HESS CoinRoll 111 coin roll dispenser

Totally flexible thanks to patented TopRoll® technology

The HESS CoinRoll machines dispense coin rolls and exchange money into the requested coins and notes. The patented coin roll rack guarantees flexibility and can be individually set up at any location. In addition, each of our coin roll dispensers saves you valuable time: they automatically recognise the coin status and log all quantities. Incidentally, they can also be integrated into local networks without any difficulty. This allows you to monitor and manage them from the comfort of your workplace.

› Flexibility and protection of your investment in one

You will remain flexible thanks to the HESS TopRoll® technology for up to 40 coin roll magazines.

The CoinRoll 111 can be filled easily and individually from the front at any location and at any time of the day. That way you are well prepared for every requirement.

› Time-saving

The HESS CoinRoll 111 reliably recognises when the coin roll magazines are empty and automatically logs all quantities.

You always have information available on the current stock and avoid the tedious process of checking this manually. Thanks to the fact that it can be operated intuitively, the CoinRoll 111 is very popular to use and eases the burden on the counter service.

› Freedom in selecting the denomination and everything under control

The customer selects the required denomination of coins or notes for the money that is being exchanged.

If the desired total to be issued does not reach the value of the deposited bank note(s), the difference is simply paid out in loose coins. With the HESS Webmaster, you have a useful tool for local administration and an automatic inventory.

› Options for even greater convenience

Also manage the HESS CoinRoll 111 remotely using the HESS WebMaster.

This means that you can manage stocks in real time from your workplace, request sales volumes, make entries or analyse transactions. You can identify your users by means of the card reader. With the HESS Connector Interface, data can be exchanged with a server and entire groups of machines can be managed from one location.
